BILLS PROVIDE PRISON TERMS

Seven Measures Drawn Revising New Jersey Laws.

EMBODY IDEAS OF WILSON

President Elect Reaches What He Considers Climax in His Program of Reform as Governor in the Introduction of Bills Making Extensive Revision of the State's Corporation Statutes.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.—President Elect Woodrow Wilson reached what he considers the climax in his program of reform as governor of New Jersey. Seven bills making for the most extensive revision of the corporation laws in the history of the state were introduced in the legislature.

"These acts are designed to put an end to trusts and monopolies under the laws of New Jersey," declared Governor Wilson in a prepared statement describing the measures, "and I confidently predict that they will accomplish that much desired result."

Though the principle of the bills which seek to prevent monopoly, underselling in local markets, mergers, the existence of holding companies and the issuance of watered stock is one which the governor emphasized repeatedly during the national campaign he declared that the proposed legislation had been drawn with the conditions in the state of New Jersey alone in mind.

Bills Embody Wilson's Ideas. "These bills embody my ideas of the way New Jersey should deal with the question," he said. "National legislation might have to be different."

Ever since the close of the campaign the governor has been working on the problem of corporation reform. Chancellor Edward L. Walker and Judge Bennett Van Syckel assisted him and the bills were launched in the senate. As the acts are administration measures and the Democrats have a comfortable majority in both houses Democratic leaders were practically unanimous in predicting that they would be enacted with little opposition.

The feature of the bills that attracted most attention was the provision making violations of the proposed laws a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment as well as fines. The bills go into extensive detail in defining trusts, monopolies and mergers. It was pointed out in the state ment issued from the governor's office, however, that while mergers and consolidations are prohibited in general the proposed laws do not intend to prevent the legitimate expansion of a business concern by the purchase of property "cognate in character."

WICKERSHAM TAKES ACTION

Gives Wife Trust Problem to Commerce Commission.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Regulation by the interstate commerce commission of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and not the compulsory competitive provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law will be the means of solving in large measure the so called telephone trust problem, according to Attorney General Wickersham, who announced that he had referred the whole question to the commission for investigation and action.

This move terminates the investigation by the department of justice of the alleged $600,000,000 telephone trust, against which independent telephone companies have made charges of unfair treatment and of the employment of methods destructive of competition.

TO LEAD SUFFRAGE PARADE

Inez Mulholland Will Be in Washington March 3.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Miss Inez Mulholland of New York city, whose designation as "the most beautiful girl in the suffrage movement" is said to have caused some heartburnings, is to lead the suffragist parade March 3, it is announced.

Wearing the costume of a herald of medieval times Miss Mulholland will parade down Pennsylvania avenue ahead of a woman's band, which in turn will lead a troop of "petticoat cavalry."

Arrangements were made also to have several hundred striking women garment workers from New York and Baltimore march in tatters and rags behind a float depicting the injustice of the "sweatshop" system.

DELAWARE DEMOCRATS BOLT

Four Members of Legislature Refuse to Participate in Caucus.

Dover, Del., Jan. 21.—Four Democratic members of the Delaware legislature refused to participate in a binding caucus and the senatorial election will probably result in a deadlock.

Twenty-seven votes are necessary and only twenty-five of the twenty-nine Democrats voted in the caucus, which resulted in Willard Saulsbury receiving twenty votes and Henry Kidgley five.

FREE FIGHTS IN WYOMING HOUSE

Result of Speaker Aiming to Control Committee.

SENATE SEAT IS INVOLVED

Two Men Attempt to Preside Over Lower Branch of the Legislature at Same Time and Several Physical Encounters Result—Control of Elections Committee Will Decide Who Will Be Chosen United States Senator.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 21.—Scenes of violence which lasted forty-five minutes and which included two physical encounters between Speaker Martin L. Pratt and Speaker Pro Tem W. J. Wood threw the lower house of the Wyoming legislature into hopeless confusion.

Both Pratt and Wood claimed authority over the house and, with Wood sitting in the speaker's chair and Pratt wielding the gavel, the show of authority seemed about equal.

The immediate occasion of the trouble was the attempt of Speaker Pratt to call to the chair H. C. Hunter, Republican, of Carbon county.

Mr. Hunter took the chair and Pratt went to Hunter's seat on the floor. Judge Metz, Democrat, arose and declared that the speaker could not designate any other than the speaker pro tem. to take the chair and called upon Representative W. J. Wood of Crook county, speaker pro tem. and a Democrat, to preside.

Hunter yielded the chair to him, but Pratt started a few minutes later to resume the place.

He grasped Wood by the shoulders with both hands and threw him violently off the platform. Wood rushed back to the chair again and the men grappled.

Scene of Rioting Ensues. Wielding his gavel Pratt declared the house adjourned. Having the prestige of the speaker's chair and using a paperweight for a gavel Speaker Pro Tem. Wood shouted to the sergeant-at-arms to close the doors and allow no one to leave. He then called for a roll call. Standing over the chief clerk, gavel in hand, Pratt forbade the calling of the roll. A scene of rioting ensued.

After the first violence the speaker and speaker pro tem., with several backers on either side, again clashed. Attempting to interfere Representative Spruill was kicked in the stomach by the speaker. Further violence was averted and an agreement finally was made to adjourn.

The clash was the climax of an apparent attempt of Speaker Pratt, Progressive Republican, hitherto working with the scant Democratic majority, to obtain for himself the control of the committee on privileges and elections, on which depends the seating or the election of three Democratic or Republican representatives, which would, in turn, give either party a majority on joint ballot and cause the re-election or defeat of Senator Francis E. Warren.

NOT LIABLE FOR DAMAGES

Supreme Court Holds Minnesota Concern Not a Trust.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Holding that the charge of combination in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law had not been sustained the supreme court held the Creamery Package Manufacturing company and the Owatonna Manufacturing company of Minnesota not liable to threefold damages on the charge of driving a competitor, the Owatonna Fanning Mill company, out of business.

The Owatonna Fanning Mill company, in which D. E. Virtue was largely interested, claimed in a suit brought by it under the Sherman anti-trust law that the Creamery Package Manufacturing company and the Owatonna Manufacturing company sought to monopolize the churn and butter worker trade and when Virtue's company declined to sell out to them they brought suit for alleged infringement of patents for the distinct purpose of monopolizing the trade. The circuit court of appeals for the Eighth circuit held against the Virtue company.

No Senator Elected in Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, Jan. 21.—Five ballots were taken in the joint assembly of the Idaho legislature with no election of a short term United States senator. There was no indication of a break in the deadlock. Chief Justice James F. Ailshe and former Governor James H. Brady took turns in leading.

WAGE INCREASE GRANTED

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 21.—A substantial increase in wages has been granted blacksmiths, machinists, boilermakers and their helpers by the Delaware and Hudson Railroad company, according to announcement made here. About 4,000 will benefit.

ARISTIDE BRIAND.

Agrees to Organize New French Cabinet.

BRIAND WILL FORM CABINET

Accepts the Formal Call of President Poincare.

Paris, Jan. 21.—Aristide Briand definitely accepted the call of President Poincare to form a new cabinet. He has not succeeded as yet in selecting his ministers, but it is probable that the composition of the cabinet will be announced soon.

PRESIDENT ACCEPTS POSITION AT YALE

Taft Plans to Be at New Haven in April.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 21.—At the regular meeting of the Yale corporation President Taft formally accepted the appointment of Kent professor of law at Yale. The president announced his intention of withdrawing from the corporation when he takes up the regular duties of his professorship.

He plans to come to New Haven early in April and will deliver, this spring, some lectures on an optional character. His work in the fall will consist of a regular course of lectures on the general subject of constitutional law. He will also give some instruction in the law school; his exact courses there being not yet determined upon.

The Kent professorship was established in 1891, being named in honor of Chancellor James Kent of the class of 1781. There have been only four incumbents of the chair—Chief Justice David D. Daggett of Connecticut, Clark Bissell and Henry Dutton, both governors of Connecticut, and Edward J. Phelps, once American minister to England.

Rev. Joseph H. Twichell of Hartford, of the class of 1859, senior fellow of the Yale corporation, announced his resignation at the meeting after thirty-eight years of service.

PASS SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

Only Seven Dissenting Votes in New York Assembly.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21.—With but seven dissenting votes the assembly passed the concurrent resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution permitting women to vote. An amendment requiring women to be naturalized the same as men was defeated.

A similar resolution pending in the senate was amended to provide that "a citizen by marriage shall have been an inhabitant of the United States for five years."

The senate resolution, as amended, is expected to pass that body and must go to the assembly for concurrence.

FAVORS PARK IN ROCKIES

Geographer Says Country Is as Beautiful as Any.

Washington, Jan. 21.—A national park in the Rocky mountains in Colorado, in the vicinity of Long's peak, including the valley known as Estes park, the Continental Divide and the mountain ranges near by, is recommended to Secretary of the Interior Fisher by R. B. Marshall, chief geographer of the United States geological survey, who has just completed a detailed examination of the region. Mr. Marshall suggests that it be named the Rocky Mountain National park.

"The region is as beautiful as any to be found in the United States," says Mr. Marshall. "The elevation ranges from 7,500 to 14,000 feet, and the area is well watered and affords abundant opportunity for the camper."

TWO BANKERS SENTENCED

Draw Terms in Sing Sing for Grand Larceny.

New York, Jan. 21.—David A. Sullivan, former president of the Mechanics' and Traders' bank of Brooklyn, and B. R. Shears, formerly president of the Borough bank of Brooklyn, both convicted of grand larceny, received prison sentences.

Sullivan was sentenced to Sing Sing for two to four years. Shears was sent to the penitentiary for three months.

WILSON AVOIDS TALK OF CABINET

"Pilgrims" Who Are Called by Him Learn Little.

HE LISTENS AND QUESTIONS

Absence of Bryan's Name From Conference Creates Theory That the Commoner's Selection or Rejection is Already Made—Wilson, Like Other Presidents, Dislikes Opposition.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Jan. 21.—[Special.]—"What does Woodrow tell the pilgrims?" That is a question which is frequently asked by Democrats who have not been invited to become "pilgrims," as the prominent people who are called to Trenton are termed. The answer is that Governor Wilson is a listener and a questioner rather than a "teller." He tells them nothing little, and they come back without much knowledge as to what he is going to do.

After the different conferences the governor tells the newspaper men that they did not discuss Mr. Bryan. "And I might add," remarked a returning "pilgrim," "that the position of secretary of state in the cabinet was not discussed." Rather interesting that, indicating that the president elect has about made up his mind on the subject of Bryan and the premiership.

Like All Presidents.

It appears that Woodrow Wilson is like all other presidents in at least one respect—he does not like to have men differ with him. The man with advice contrary to what he thinks is not very welcome. The man who tells him he is wrong—well, that kind of man had better keep away from Trenton. Roosevelt disliked the men who differed with him, and Taft still greater aversion for those who told him unpleasant truths. The next president is going to be a mighty nice man to get along with for those who agree with him. So say the "pilgrims."

Who but Wilson Men?

"Who except Wilson men, those who supported Wilson before the convention, have been mentioned as cabinet possibilities?" That was the question which a prominent western Democrat asked me the other day. Well, there were at that time the names of Bryan, Brandeis, Senator Gardner, Josephus Daniels, Burleson, Mitchell Palmer, Governor Burke, McAdoo and perhaps one or two others who seemed like cabinet possibilities. "It looks to me," he added, "as if there were not going to be many cabinet members who were not Wilson men from the beginning."

Fort Dodge's Fame.

Mrs. Kenyon, wife of the Iowa senator, is a resident of Fort Dodge, a town on the Des Moines river. When she told an acquaintance that fact not long ago he remarked, "Fort Dodge is famous for—"

"For the 'Cardiff giant,'" interposed Mrs. Kenyon.

"No, for being the head of navigation on the Des Moines river," was the reply. "Once a little steambot during a spring freshet went up the Des Moines river as far as Fort Dodge. At present Keokuk, at the mouth of the river, is the head of its navigation."

"Well, that is nothing compared to the 'Cardiff giant,'" replied Mrs. Kenyon. "They made the 'giant' at Fort Dodge and exhibited it all over the country and made a great deal of money out of it."

Weather and Watches.

Nearly all the senators go into the little weather station at the senate wing and see what kind of weather Willis Moore has given their states each day. And nearly every one of them stops to see how near his watch is keeping to the naval observatory time. For a time each day weather and watches get more attention than the senate proceedings.

Ways to Skin a Cat.

"There's more than one way to skin a cat," is a saying of boys who find methods of doing things or of not doing things. So with the United States senate. It was in a tangle because it had agreed to vote on the Kenyon liquor bill on Jan. 20. If the bill passed the senate on that date it might have had time to pass the house and become a law. So there was a deal of sparring, a great deal of talk about senatorial courtesy, and finally, after much maneuvering, the senate agreed to vote on the bill Feb. 10.

At that time there will be such a crowding of congressional business that the Kenyon liquor bill will be lost in the shuffle. It will die, as have all measures of a similar character. It will have the votes, but it will not be given the consideration.

Will Move Slowly.

No one is going to rush the Republican party into a reorganization, judging from what the leaders in Washington say. "There is no need of a reorganization," is what they all say. They believe that if the Democrats make mistakes there will be a movement toward the G. O. P. which will cause disintegration of the Progressives as a party. "There can't be three or more parties in this country all progressive," remarked former Senator Long of Kansas, which is rather trite in view of the fact that three organizations in politics all declare themselves the real progressives at the present time.

Her Limitations.

"Can you cook on an emergency?" "No, sir, but I can on a gas stove."—Baltimore American.

COLONEL GORGAS.

Says Guayaquil Harbor Can Be Made Sanitary.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Like Havana Was, Says Colonel Gorgas.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Colonel William C. Gorgas, head of the sanitary work in the Panama canal zone, arrived here from Guayaquil, Ecuador, where he went recently to recommend measures for the sanitation of that port, known for many years past as the "pest hole of the Pacific."

Colonel Gorgas will present his report to Secretary Knox.

"I found conditions in Guayaquil similar to those which we met at Havana when we went there some years ago to rid it of its fever and infection," he said. "There seems to be no reason why Guayaquil cannot be made as safe a harbor from the health point of view as any other. The people there realize the importance of cleaning up if they want to enjoy the benefits to be derived from the commerce of the canal."

UTE INDIANS GIVE OFFICERS THE SLIP

Southwestern Colorado Citizens Fear an Outbreak.

Cortez, Colo., Jan. 21.—Without leaving any trace of their whereabouts the band of fifty Ute Indians, who left the Ute reservation Saturday rather than deliver one of the tribesmen, Big Rabbit, to the civil authorities or the Indian agent, left their stronghold in the Ute mountains.

So threatening has the attitude of the Utes become that the white citizens of southwestern Colorado in the immediate vicinity of the reservation have armed themselves and are momentarily looking for a desperate outbreak. The Utes who have remained on the reservation are becoming greatly excited and it is believed they are arming themselves.

The disappearance of the Indians was discovered when Sheriff McGawith, with his posse and Agent Spear, went to the mountains to parley further with the Utes. As they cautiously approached the pass where the Indians had fortified themselves they were surprised at the absence of the customary threat of gleaming rifle barrels leveled at them. One of the party went forward and found that the Indians had disappeared.

CHICAGO DETECTIVE KILLED

Murderer Slays Officer After Obtaining His Revolver.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—A climax to a search for members of the auto bandit crew came with the shooting and killing of Detective Peter Hart with his own revolver, supposedly by one of the gang.

The detective was shot through the heart when he entered a flat to arrest Bob Webb, said to be an accomplice of James B. Perry, a confessed bandit now under arrest.

After shooting Hart the man escaped.

The two other detectives who were aiding Hart in watching the flat rushed into the room soon after the slayer had fled. Hart died before they could summon a physician.

The police theory is that Hart laid his revolver on a table while he searched his prisoner and that the suspect by a ruse obtained the weapon and shot the detective.

FIVE JURORS ARE CHOSEN

Second Trial of Clarence Darrow on Bribery Charge.

Los Angeles, Jan. 21.—Five talesmen had answered questions satisfactorily to the defense at the conclusion of the first day of the second trial of Clarence S. Darrow for alleged jury bribery in connection with the McNamara case.

The only features were provided by the examination of Francis H. Hutchins and N. O. Anderson, both of whom were excused by the court, although the state strenuously resisted the challenges.

ENVOYS AWAIT TURKISH REPLY

ORDERS MARRIAGE STRIKE

Woman Official Advises Her Sex to Remain Single.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 21.—Kate Barnard, state commissioner of charities and famous for her prison investigations of a few years ago, has ordered a "marriage strike."

She believes that every woman should refuse marriage until the protection of childhood and motherhood. She calls on the women of her state to refuse all suitors until the men are brought to realize that there must be some recognition given to the evils of child labor.

"If every woman had the real strength of mind necessary, as well as an actual knowledge of what is going on about her, she would flatly refuse to marry until conditions were changed," says Miss Barnard.

ABANDONS INAUGURAL BALL

Committee Accedes to Request of President Elect.

Washington, Jan. 21.—"No inaugural ball," was the vote of the inaugural committee here. President Elect Wilson's expressed desire to abandon the society function that has been a feature of the induction into office of every executive since Madison was acquiesced in by the local committee at an executive session.

It was decided, however, to hold a reception on the night of March 4, at which the new president could greet all citizens.

EIGHT-HOUR LAW EXTENDED

Congress Amends It to Apply to Men on River Work.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Provisions of the eight-hour law applicable to all employees on government contract work were extended by congress to employees on river and harbor improvements.

The supreme court had held that laborers on river and harbor improvements were seamen and were not subject to the provisions of the eight-hour law. To overcome this the senate passed the house bill amending the original eight-hour law.

PULLMAN COM! MUST PAY

Held Responsible for Valuables Given to Porters.

New York, Jan. 21.—The appellate division of the state supreme court decided here that sleeping car companies are responsible for valuables given by passengers to porters for safekeeping.

The decision was handed down in a suit brought against the Pullman company to recover the value of a diamond necklace entrusted to the porter by a woman passenger.

PAYS ONE MILLION ALIMONY

J. V. Thompson, Coal and Coke Operator, Gets a Divorce.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 21.—Josiah V. Thompson, well known multimillionaire coal and coke operator of Uniontown, Pa., was granted a divorce. The decree is a special one and Thompson agreed to pay Mrs. Thompson $1,000,000. Each party to the suit has the right to marry again.

SAW UNKNOWN VESSEL SINK

Dutch Steamship Unable to Render Assistance.

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 21.—Another tragedy of the sea was recorded here when Captain Reo of the Dutch steamship Phœbe reported the sinking of a large Danish tramp steamer about 25 miles off Plymouth, Eng., Dec. 26, during a hurricane. The entire crew perished. The name of the vessel is not known, but officers of the Phœbe believe it probably was the Ivar of Copenhagen.

The vessel was sighted by the Phœbe during a storm on the afternoon of Dec. 26. Captain Reo signaled to the steamer offering assistance, but received no reply. The Phœbe continued to approach the distressed steamer, but before she was reached a high sea broke over her and she sank.

HUSBAND'S ADVICE VALUABLE

Wife May Collect Damages, Says Federal Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 21.—A husband's advice to his wife may possibly be of such a pecuniary value that the wife may recover damages for loss of it, according to a decision by the supreme court.

The court reversed, however, a judgment of $12,000 awarded in the United States district court for Northern Ohio to the administrator of the estate of Albert Wisemiller, killed while working on the Michigan Central railroad because the trial judge had erred in allowing damages to the widow for loss of the husband's advice and care without there having been any allegations or evidence of such loss.

Balkan Delegates Plainly Indicate Their Impatience.

PORTE FEARS HUMILIATION

Allies Express Their Determination to Prevent Turkey From Postponing Settlement of the War Longer Than a Week—Believed That Sultan is Trying to Induce Powers to Mediate.

London, Jan. 21.—The Balkan plenipotentiaries, who are awaiting the Turkish reply, do not attempt to conceal their impatience and firm determination to prevent Turkey from postponing settlement of the war longer than a week. Meanwhile unofficial conversations have begun among the allies regarding their inter-Balkan de limitations.

Dr. Daneff, head of the Bulgarian delegation, and the Greek premier, M. Venizelos, were engrossed in this task. As no agreement has been reached concerning Saloniki the Greeks hope to have no difficulty in retaining it when the Bulgarians get Adrianople. Rehad Pasha received long cipher messages from Constantinople and it is asserted that he was instructed to confer with Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, with the object of obtaining direct intervention by the powers under the form of mediation, or in another way, if more acceptable, so that Turkey might be spared the humiliation of ceding Adrianople at first hand.

Rehad Pasha, accompanied by Tewfik Pasha and Osman Nizami Pasha, visited the British foreign secretary.

The meeting of the national assembly at Constantinople has been postponed until Wednesday and the porte's reply to the note of the powers will be presented after this meeting. The general impression is that the Turkish government is weakening with respect to the demands of the allies.

A Bucharest dispatch says it is expected a settlement between Rumania and Bulgaria will be effected before February by an agreement providing for a rectification of the frontier. Rumania, however, will not get as much as she wanted. Bulgaria will cede some of the forts in the neighborhood of Silistria, but not the town itself.

MUST SHOW ALL ACCOUNTS

Minnesota Departments May Be Carefully Audited.

St. Paul, Jan. 21.—State administrative departments will be called upon by the house to exhibit the disposition made of the money given them by the legislature in 1911. This request will be introduced, it is planned, in the house as coming from the committee on accounts and expenditures.

Abolition of seven state departments and their centralization under one executive head in a department of public domain is proposed in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Thomas Kneeland of Minneapolis.

The Kneeland bill abolishes the drainage commission, the timber commission, the forestry board, the state game and fish commission, the board of immigration and the offices of surveyors general of logs and lumber. It creates a department of public domain to be in charge of a commissioner of the public domain appointed by the governor and whose appointment must be ratified by the senate.

Jule Jamieson, of Julesburg, was a Brainerd visitor today. Mr. Jamieson is having the name of Julesburg painted on a big sign and will place it alongside the Cuyuna Northern railway company's tracks and also see to it that the new gasoline car of the Northern Pacific will stop 10 minutes at Julesburg.

John Cochran, who served on the U. S. district court jury at Duluth and who had his picture in the paper and a yard of good reading matter at the top of the column in the Duluth News-Tribune, has returned to Brainerd. It will take John a few days to get reaccustomed to the humdrum existence in Brainerd.

The next meeting of the Boosters club will be held at the offices of Attorney George H. Gardner on Thursday evening, January 30. At that time the club will take up the amendment of Rev. This is the time of the year when every baseball town in the country is getting ready for the coming baseball season. Old and conservative towns like Superior and Duluth, Fargo and Moorhead are figuring on winning ball teams, and it behooves Brainerd, the liveliest baseball town in the bunch, to get busy with its baseball dope.

In the damage suit of Anton Lindstrom against the Inland Steel company of Crosby, Judge Willard on Saturday afternoon directed a verdict in favor of the defendant. Testimony taken tended to show that Lindstrom failed to take sufficient precautions at the time he received his injuries, which he received by falling into a shaft in the mine of the company near Crosby.—Duluth Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ellingson of Ironton, passed through Brainerd today on their way to Kensington for a short visit with relatives. Mr. Ellingson expressed himself in favor of the installation of a gasoline car on the Northern Pacific railway, thus giving Ironton better service into Brainerd. Mr. Ellingson is a member of the firm of Ellingson Prothers, conducting a large general store in the flourishing town of Ironton.

Mrs. John Greeno, aged 67, who passed away at Staples last week, was an old resident of that town. She was a native of Kings county, N. Y., and came to Minnesota in 1870. The family removed to Tower City, N. D., in 1887 and came to Staples in 1901. Of her twelve children seven survive as follows: E. E. Greeno of Staples; Mrs. G. H. Fordham of Stewartville; Mrs. Frank Lavin of Pullman, Wash.; Mrs. Edward Hill of Tower City, N. D.; Mrs. Chart Barton of Berthold, N. D.; Mrs. Myrtle Robinson of Valley City, N. CASCARETS SURELY STRAIGHTEN YOU OUT

No Headache, Biliousness, Upset Stomach, Lazy Liver or Constipated Bowels by Morning

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway through these alimentary or drainage organs every few days with salts, cathartic pills, castor oil or purgative waters.

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have headache, biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, sour stomach or constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children use love to take them.

USELESS WORRY.

There are two things which we ought not to fret about—things which we can help and things which we cannot. If you can help, why do you not apply the remedy? If you cannot, you may as well surrender at once and save useless worry

A Good Company

The Obrecht Stock Co. closed a three nights engagement at the Met last night and more than pleased their patrons their plays being new, refined and presented in a unique way that pleases, the productions being first class and better than most of the one nighters. Little Miss Sara Obrecht playing Missy in The Tenderfoot, did her part cute and cunning. Too much cannot be said in her praise and Little Miss Sara being only 17, has a wonderful future.

The vaudeville between the acts is what you see in the larger cities, special mention to be given to Miss Nell and Jule Obrecht for their clever work on the cornets. The young ladies played a cross hand cornet duet that opened the eyes and mouths of all those that attended Monday night. It is seldom that Watertown ever hear ladies of their class and ability. Obrecht's ladies orchestra consisting of five sisters and their brother Christy, are studied musicians and can play anything from the popular air to the most classical overture. It is the only repertoire that has ever played Watertown carrying a real ladies band and orchestra. Mr. Christy Obrecht, the young congenial manager of the company deserves much credit for not only is he a musician but an actor and a fine comedian with a wonderful personality. Each member is an artist in his or her line and Watertown is anxiously awaiting a return engagement of the popular company.—Watertown, S. D., News.

Pursuant to a call issued by Grand Vizier C. D. Johnson, head of the noble and puissant order of the Princes of The Orient, a class in- itiation is to take place on or about February 8th and the Grand Vizier has appointed a committee of ar- rangements consisting of J. A. Hoff- bauer, Wm. Nelson, George Weaver, Fred Sanborn, Fred Allison and H. E. Scott to meet and perfect the nec- essary preliminaries for the con- catenation, such committee to meet at the water and light board offices in the Imperial block on Thursday evening, January 23 at the hour of eight o'clock.

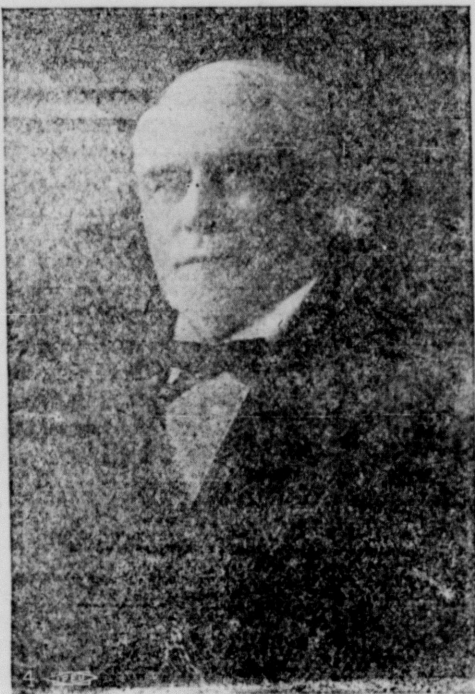

Although heavily pressed by the rush of legislative business Senator C. D. Johnson had not lost sight of the great fraternal order which makes it headquarters in Brainerd and numbers on its membership rolls some of the most illustrious names of local and state history.

"Remember your oath as a Prince of the Orient, taken shortly after you were duly elevated into Brainerd Council No. 6, that you would strive to increase the membership and see to it that you institute a big class for the February meeting night," said Senator Johnson, as the train puffed out of the station for St. Paul.

In due course of time as soon as the arrangements committee gets its heads together, the Grand Vizier's proclamation of the time and place of the February meeting will be duly heralded to an expectant multitude of Princes and prospective candidates.

Northern Pacific Railway Establish- es Department Whose Aim is to Effect Economies and

TO ELIMINATE LOST MOTION

To be Under Jurisdiction of Operat- ing Department in Charge of George T. Slade

St. Paul, January 20—To promote the welfare of patrons and employes of the company, to effect greater economy in operation, to raise the standard of individual and depart- ment work, and out of this closer co- operation to derive a greater degree of despatch and safety in the per- formance of its functions, President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific has established a Bureau of Efficiency under the jurisdiction of the operating department in charge of Mr. George T. Slade, third vice pres- ident. The headquarters of the bu- reau will be at St. Paul, and the of- ficial circular creating the bureau states that Mr. Charles T. Banks will be in direct charge of the bureau.

The circular says, "The superin- tendent of each division will act as the local representative to whom employes will offer suggestions and re- port conditions and practices toward and in which the Bureau can exer- cise its office of effecting improve- ment. Employes are requested to confer freely with the superintendent on all subjects and to make sugges- tions for the improvement of the service or working conditions as they now exist."

Employees are enjoined in the cir- cular to give the work of the bureau their earnest and sympathetic co-op- eration, and emphasis is laid upon the point that every employe ought to feel a personal interest in the movement for the benefit, not alone of the patrons of the road, but the employe himself and his family.

The Northern Pacific already has the reputation of operating its lines with as low cost as any other road occupying similar territory and working under similar conditions.

IRON & STEEL REVIEW

The New Year Starts With a Rush of Prosperity and Unfilled Orders are Piling Up

New York, January 21—The vol- ume of new business entered by the steel mills since the first of the year has been scarcely equal to current shipments but conditions indicate that orders would be much larger if mills would be able to make earlier deliveries on new contracts. The railroads are constantly in the market for new shipments and last week placed orders for more than 5,000 cars, 163 locomotives, 53,000 tons of rails, and 3,000 tons of bridge work.

Steel building orders placed dur- ing the week called for 18,000 tons of fabricated steel and bids for 15,000 tons of steel work were submit- ted to railroads. Very few of the fabricating shops can make deliveries under four or five months from re- ceipt of specifications, as the struc- tural mills cannot make deliveries un- der three months.

The most interesting structural con- tract last week were for transmission towers for power lines, including 4,500 tons for shipment to Utah and 3,600 tons for shipment to Spain.

There was increased activity in wrought iron and steel pipe, includ- ing 20,000 tons of two-inch, which went to the largest interests, and 78 miles of 3 to 16 inches, distributed among independent manufacturers. The American Steel and Tin Plate company advanced prices of black and galvanized sheets $2 per ton for shipment over the third quarter of the year.

Pig iron was more active but ir- regular and easier in all distribut- ing districts.

Locally, that is near Brainerd and in Crow Wing county, the Cuyuna Range Power company has been ham- pered in the construction of its pole line to connect the north range dis- trict with the power dam at the Crow Wing river. No more steel poles could be obtained at this time and M. D. Stoner, the president and gen- eral manager of the company, has his men at work building reinforced concrete and steel poles weighing 5,000 pounds each. It will make the most permanent kind of a pole but involves some difficulty in the plac- ing of it.

WHY JONES DOES NOT GO TO CHURCH

Finds No Time Because His Recrea- tion is So Much Harder Than His Work

ALWAYS HAS SOME GRIEVANCE

Some Day Jones Will go to Church —When His Friends Carry Him in a Casket

At the Presbyterian church Sunday evening the pastor, W. J. Lowrie, spoke on "Why Jones Don't go to Church." Mr. Lowrie first made an explanation of the use of the name of Jones. He said he did not wish to speak lightly of the name of Jones. It was a great name and worn with charming grace by many distinguish- ed people. There were a great num- ber of that name who were devout and loyal to the church but this par- ticular Jones was an exception.

Jones was not an unbeliever, an infidel, or venal; in fact, he wanted his children to go to Sabbath school and his wife to go to church—he be- lieved in church—up to the point of going.

Jones has had Sunday morning habits. He sleeps late. Not that Jones is lazy. On no—it isn't that. Jones needs to rest. He isn't over- worked, poor Jones! He doesn't work any harder than the rest. But Jones is out every night. Jones' recreation is much harder on him than his work. When Sunday morn- ing comes he rises late, half dresses, goes down stairs, finds the morning paper and is soon engrossed in its contents. He eats his breakfast sul- lenly, is unshaved, grouchy and dull from the effects of his Saturday night's "recreation."

He sees Smith on his way to church. He glances at the clock and finds he has fifteen minutes to get ready. He races around like wild. Yells for collar buttons and cuffs, starts to shave and finds there is no hot water, cuts himself—church bell rings—coat can't be found—Jones stands on his head and kicks the air with his feet. The fire is about out. Jones dives into the furnace room, covers himself with soot and ashes and—Jones don't go to church.

Jones has a grievance. walking down the street one day the minister didn't speak to him and Jones thought it an affront. He thought the minister had the "big head" and didn't know ordinary people. Jones was always on the look-out for some one to hurt his feelings. So Jones don't go to church!

"MICHAEL'S"

Moreover Jones had a little grievance against someone in the church. Someone hadn't acted right—that is, Jones had heard that Mr. "A" had told Mrs. "B" and Mrs. B. had told Miss "C" and Miss "C" had told some of her friends and Jones had heard it. The story had grown more attractive and piquant in the repetitions and Jones couldn't go to church when anything "like that was going on." Jones was so fair and good and beau- tiful himself that he "just couldn't go as long as that person was there."

Another reason for Jones not go- ing to church was that he himself wasn't living straight. He was not always square in his dealings. His scales didn't always balance. His dress goods were not always "wool and a yard wide." His "marked down" sales were sometimes "pushed up" sales for Jones, to tell the truth, had a covetous eye and an itching palm. Jones don't like to go anywhere where plain honesty is mentioned, much less to church.

Jones puts it off. One day it was too cold, another too hot. One Sun- day was rainy, the next looked like it. One day the fish were biting, another the south wind was blowing.

But he expects to go. Yes, Jones will go some day. Some day he will come. His friends will bring him. They will march stately and slowly, they will look very sad and very mournful when they bring Jones to church. They will time their steps to the "Dead March in Saul" when Jones comes to church. Let us cast the mantle over Jones—poor Jones. He expected to! Requiem aeternam dona eis. Domine. Jones was such a faithful man.

Wood-Erickson

A pretty home wedding occurred last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Erick Erickson, 1020 Rosewood street, when their daughter, Lena was joined in marriage to Mr. James H. Wood of Garfield, Minn. The service was read by Rev. Elbert E. Satterlee of the First Methodist Epis- copal church in the presence only of the immediate family. The bride wore a gown of white messaline. The groom is employed by the Great Nor- thern railway, as station agent at Garfield, where after a wedding tour to include the twin cities and the home of the groom's parents in Chi- cago, the happy couple will be at home to their many friends after February 10th. The bride is a Brainerd young lady with a host of friends who will wish her all joy.

NATION PAYS BIG TRIBUTE TO LAST MARTYR OF WHITE HOUSE

New Luster Comes, as Years Roll by, to Memory of McKinley. Carnation Day, Marking His Birth, Is One of Finest Memorial Events.

As the years roll by new luster grows round a hallowed name and new appreciation comes into the hearts of the people for their dead hero. It is coming more forcibly to be known with each succeeding anniversary of Jan. 29, 1843, that William McKinley, the martyred president, was a great and good man. Thus, on the anniversary of his birth, the nation figuratively bows its head and does homage to the memory of McKinley. Carnation day, as the anniversary is known from coast to coast and lakes to gulf, is one of the most solemn memorial days on the American calendar. In life President McKinley stood definitely for certain economic and political beliefs which engendered opposition by many other big contemporaries, but it is now known by all, because of the test that time has placed upon most of the public policies treated by him, that President McKinley was a clear thinking, big brained and in every way really great executive. Time, the one sure appraiser, has stamped the record of the martyred president with the mark of highest approval.

Noted For Gentleness. He was, with his attributes of contempt for trivialities and capacity to think strongly, also gentle and generous.

MAUSOLEUM AT CANTON, O.

It is with the memory of his gentleness that those who knew him personally or heard him in public addresses most readily recall him. Mr. McKinley was born in Niles, O., Jan. 29, 1843. He was shot down by an assassin in the Temple of Music on the Pan-American exposition grounds, Buffalo, Sept. 6, 1901. He died at the home of John G. Milburn, president of the exposition, on Sept. 14. All over the country tribute to the memory of President McKinley has been extended in the form of successively erected monuments. Principal, of course, is the splendid mausoleum in which rests the president's body at Canton, O., in which city Mr. McKinley made his home during the last years of his life. Second in importance is the splendid shaft having the shape of an obelisk in Buffalo. The shaft, with its simplicity of design as to spire, typifies the lofty purposes of the president. The monster marble lions at its base typify the strong, big hearted character of the man. Bronze statues and busts and marble images standing in scores of public buildings testify to the reverence held for the dead president. Fitting ceremonies are held in the shadow of these lasting memorials every year, but principally the day is marked by the little act of reverence by all men and women individually—the act of wearing a carnation. Custom of Wearing Carnations. It is one of the prettiest customs in the scheme of national affairs, the custom of carnation wearing. By this act men throughout the land give a personal expression of their honor to the one who is gone. Repeatedly the big men of the succeeding years who had known and possibly even opposed President McKinley in public affairs have spoken tributes to him that prove he was a big president. In life these men probably would not have conceded such tributes. Some of them at least had purposes and beliefs contrary to those of the executive. They therefore did not in those days look upon him always with tolerance. From his closest associates the highest eulogiums come. The late Marcus A. Hanna, who was President McKinley's confidential adviser and close personal friend, had this to say of the president on the day following the latter's death: "He was one of the most adroit handlers of men I ever saw, and those who accuse him of having been led about by me were mistaken. His tact was perfect and his manner so gracious that he brought all those who came in contact with him to his way of thinking. He was led by nobody. He was the leader of others."

A High Personal Tribute. Likewise Frank A. Munsey speaks of President McKinley's character in strong terms. Said Mr. Munsey: "In William McKinley there was the most perfect blending of pure democracy, and such officers gave the plan their immediate approval, and the Carnation League of America was founded. Through its officers the ministers throughout the country were influenced to devote special memorial sermons to the memorial day, and the newspapers were readily enlisted also in the movement. It had been suggested originally to fix Sept. 14, the day of Mr. McKinley's death, as the anniversary to be commemorated, but this idea gave way soon before the general belief that it was best to celebrate the martyr's birth.

His Last Home a Hospital. The house in which Mr. McKinley lived in Canton was converted into a hospital several years ago. Following the death of Mrs. McKinley in 1907 some discussion arose as to how the property might be used with fitting effect. The building was announced for sale in 1908, and a widow of wealth and prominence in Canton purchased it. She had long nurtured the plan to establish a hospital under the direction of the Catholic church, and this presented to her the opportunity. The dwelling proved inadequate as to size and later was replaced by a fine edifice. It is known as Mercy hospital and is looked upon as one of the fine institutions of the state.

Anecdotes of McKinley.

Rutherford B. Hayes, then ex-president, told a rather interesting episode of Mr. McKinley's life in the army when Mr. Hayes was introducing Mr. McKinley to an audience after his nomination for governor in 1891. Mr. Hayes declared that on the bloodiest day of the war, the day in which the battle of Antietam was at its height, Mr. McKinley, the young man who had risen as quartermaster under Hayes, distributed hot coffee and meats to the men with his own hands. He had risked his life under fire to forage the food so necessary to the famished and worn-out soldiers. The late Senator Hanna had a favorite story, which he took considerable delight in telling, as relating to his friend William McKinley. This is the story: "Mr. McKinley always appeared at the executive office in the morning with a carnation in his buttonhole, and when it became necessary to turn down an office seeker who had succeeded in obtaining a personal interview he would remove the flower from his own lapel and place it in that of his visitor. It was generally understood by those in the outer offices that when a caller emerged with the decoration upon him it was all the latter had obtained."

TUBERCULOSIS WAR GROWS.

Great Increase Is Made in 1912 Over That of 1911. Nearly $10,000,000 was spent in the anti-tuberculosis campaign in the United States during the year 1912 according to the fourth annual statistical statement of expenditures in this movement issued by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The expenditures during the year for sanitarium and hospital construction and treatment make the largest single item in the total, amounting to nearly $16,800,000. This is an increase of nearly $5,000,000 over the same group of expenditures for the year 1911. The anti-tuberculosis associations and committees spent over $765,000, while dispensaries and tuberculosis clinics spent over $500,000. Over $415,000 was spent for the maintenance and establishment of open air schools and fresh air classes, which is more than double the amount spent for this purpose in 1911. Official, state and municipal expenditures outside of the maintenance of institutions, which are included in the other totals, amounted to $280,000. In addition to these figures about $500,000 was spent by hospitals for insane and penal institutions in caring for their tuberculosis inmates.

Epithet Allowed in Switzerland. It is lawful in Switzerland to call a man an ass either in anger or otherwise, according to a decision given by the cantonal tribunal at Zurich recently. The court therefore declined to award damages in a suit arising out of a quarrel between two citizens, both locally prominent.

Could Shout For Joy "I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me" For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice, and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters have no superior. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50 cents at H. P. Dunn's.—Adv.

HOPE ON. It is necessary to hope, for hope itself is happiness, and its frustrations, however frequent, are yet less dreadful than its extinction.—Dr. Johnson.

SLAVES SET FREE RETURN TO BONDS

Still Greater Freedom With King—ly Honors Thereby Secured.

Pastor Russell's Discourse the Third and Last of a Series Upon the Texts Which Embellish the Famous Union Station of Washington City.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Washington, D. C., January 19.—Pastor Russell preached at Washington Temple today his third sermon on our Union Depot texts. Today's text was: "The Truth shall make you free." (John 8:32.) He said: Truth is the great Emancipator. All enslavers oppose the Truth, knowing its power on the minds of their victims. The taskmasters of today would fain hide the truth from wage-slaves, but find it impossible—so great is the power of the press—and there are publishers who have not sold their moral sense for sordid gain. When chattel slavery prevailed, the master found it advantageous to educate his slaves and thus increase their value, but disadvantageous to instruct them along the lines of human rights. The feudatory lords were very willing that the common people consider them demigods, not subject to law as others. The same principle apparently prompted the emperors to proclaim themselves, "pontifex maximus," and to encourage their people to worship them. The natural selfishness of man ever prompts him to take advantage of others; and ignorance has been the chain which has bound the masses. The Bible has been the great Emancipator of slaves—mental, moral and physical. It is the Torch of Liberty. Banned by Divine Providence. The Bible alone tells us that all humanity are of one blood, creatures of the same God, amenable to Him. While the Bible instructs that kings and all in authority should be recognized, it also tells that the king is amenable to exactly the same laws as his most menial slave, and that if he violates these laws he is as sure to be punished. Moreover, the Bible points out that the present is related to the future life as cause to effect. It shows that every act, word and thought bears upon character-development, and prepares us for higher things in the life to come or gives us more difficulty in reaching perfection and everlasting life. "Hope Thou In God." Looking into the past, we see Israel, sodden with fear of their Egyptian taskmasters, not daring to take steps for liberty. But after the Exodus, after God's Covenant with them at Sinai, they were a changed people. The hopes inspired by the Scriptures preserved them as a nation when contemporaneous civilization perished. The Jews undoubtedly destroyed their own nationality. The Romans merely performed the funeral rites in destroying Jerusalem, A. D. 70. The Emperor evidently claimed that the Jewish religion must necessarily be at the foundation of their ungovernable character. Their liberty, used contrary to Divine instruction, led to discontent and anarchy. Christ's Followers Set Free. The Message of Jesus and the Apostles attracted some "Israelites indeed," anxious to serve God. The early Christians courageously suffered persecution and carried the Gospel everywhere. The Roman emperors, Nero and Diocletian, perceived that Christians had a courage which they feared would be infectious, and persecuted them horribly. But the Master had freed them from fear of death. Then came a long period of darkness, when the Scriptures were forgotten, and only the words of bishops were heard—words misunderstood to be of Divine authority through Apostolic Succession. Next came centuries under control of creeds and church councils. Darkness, ignorance and superstition prevailed, although God had His witnesses throughout that long period. Finally the Bible again emerged, when printing came into use. God's time had come for the Bible again to be the Torch of Liberty, and Independence proportionately came forward. Today Britain, Germany, Scandinavia and America lead the world, because of the light from the Word of God. Danger Now, as to the Jews. The danger that the Jews encourtered in the end of their Age confronts us. Not all receive the Truth in the love of it. Not all, therefore, are sanctified by it. Few have turned to the Lord, to become followers of Jesus. Hence we are on the threshold of a great disintegration. Liberty is about to turn to license—anarchy; our civilization is about to be ruined, as was the Jewish polity, by liberty unrestrained by the Spirit of the Lord. St. Paul declared that the Gospel had set him free from all other bondages; but that he surrendered his liberty to Christ, to do, not his own will, but the will of his Redeemer. Forcefully he states that in so doing he became a bond-slave to Christ. Blessed is the condition of those who gladly surrender all to become followers of the Lord! Such can rejoice, because they know that all things work together for their good, to prepare them for the Heavenly glories.

YOURSELF. If you wish to be miserable you must think about yourself, about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to pay you, and then to you nothing will be pure. You will spoil everything you touch, you will make sin and misery for yourself out of everything which God sends you, and you will be as wretched as you choose. —Charles Kingsley.

Between Friends. "Hoo is it, dearies, that ye mak' sic an envious profit aff yer potatoes? Yer price is lower than ony ither in the toon, and ye mak' extra reductions for yer friends." "Weel, ye see, I knock aff twa shillin's a ton because a customer is a freend o' mine, an' then I jist tak' twa hundrethweight aff the ton because I'm a freend o' his."—London Punch.
